02 The Essence of Capricorn

Capricorn guides you on a journey from the depths of your lower self to the heights of your higher self upon the majestic mountain. In Babylonian lore, Capricorn is known as Capricornus, which translates to "the Horned Goat," adorned with a fishtail that graces its lower body.

The significance of order and structure

Capricorn embodies the profound bond between water and earth, nurturing the very essence of fertility and growth on our planet. Just as water needs land to flow harmoniously, these two elements must unite seamlessly to create a foundation of order and structure.

Morphogenetic fields, and our planet

Every step we took in the zodiac served a purpose, a gateway of awareness that gradually readied us for this moment:

In Libra, we embraced a profound decision: we surrendered to the guidance of our higher self, and in that moment, the ego discovered the beauty of humility.

In Scorpio, we intentionally embraced the cocoon, a sacred space where we released all that no longer serves us, allowing for the profound transformation to unfold.

In Ophiuchus, we broke free from that cocoon, transformed not into who we once were, but into the essence of who we are meant to be.

In Sagittarius, we discovered the beauty of perceiving all zodiac signs and life lessons from an elevated viewpoint.

And now, as we find ourselves in Capricorn, we are invited to reflect: what is your true purpose? What is it that your soul is meant to accomplish during your time on this earth? It need not be intricate, yet it calls for a deep sense of awareness.

The Capricorn Lower and Upper self

The essence of this oil revolves around embracing your abilities to fulfill your soul's purpose. By these abilities, we refer to self-awareness, enlightenment, soul recollection, and the profound understanding that everything is interconnected.

No dogma — your spirit understands the timing.

The lower Capricorn persistently challenges you regarding control and ambition. Any attempt to manifest from a space of lack can ensnare you in this reality. Acknowledge and defy the traps—do not be ensnared by power, possessions, or acclaim—and always remember your true essence: united with the entirety.

"Eliminating distractions and dedicating yourself entirely to your authentic soul mission and the grand purpose for which you have come into this world."

04 The Sacred Verses

Recite these verses as you prepare your oil, following the lighting of your candle and incense.

Ode to Myrtle

We invite you to embody the essence of a guardian spirit, safeguarding the realms of time, focus, and harmony across all dimensions. You are the embodiment of sacred geometry, flowing through the oil from the horn of Capricorn. Guide us when we find ourselves swayed by distractions, chaos, fleeting thoughts, and unwelcome intrusions from every realm. Alongside the Coureconsils, help us to dispel all forms of distraction that do not guide us toward our true path.

And safeguard us from straying too far into discipline and responsibility, rigidity or dogma. For that could never have been the purpose of divine creation.

Ode to Lavender

We invite you to embrace our timeless soul mission with ease and grace. Ignite the sacred geometry of the violet flame. Let us unite in perfect harmony with our higher selves, allowing us to clearly perceive our true purpose. May we discover joy and enchantment, illuminated by the radiant light of Venus.

Guide us in understanding the essence of true focus, to fulfill a higher purpose with clarity, ignited by a magical purple flame. From the state of simply being, from a place of peace, tranquility, and harmony, free from pressure, haste, or obligation.

This oil is here to support you:

- ◆ Embracing your power ◆
- Fulfilling your soul's purpose ◆
- Welcoming new beginnings ◆
- Contemplation when there are remnants to cleanse in the ego ◆
- Attuning to the clear messages from your higher self ◆
- Structuring your thoughts and creating space for the divine melody of your soul

Ode to Sandalwood

We embrace you because you hold within you the essence of transformative beginnings. We are now engaging with our spirits, and we seek from you unwavering discipline, clarity, and a sense of order born from harmony, wisdom, and tranquility. Grant us the Capricorn guidance to elevate our spirits to magnificent heights and access the sacred realms reserved for the devoted master. Not due to our uniqueness, but because we are heeding the call of the Soul.

Ode to Myrrh

Through this oil, we forge a connection not only with the cosmic mother but also with the cosmic father. He embodies the essence of discipline, intellect, natural order, rhythm, and regularity.

Let us embrace the essence of stability through the masculine. Myrrh, we invite you to anchor yourself with the cosmic mother and the cosmic father. Unite the two sacred geometries of water and land, representing the soul and ego, body and mind.

The Vision of the Mountain

Breathe in deeply three times from the earth and three times from the radiant aqualine sun. Call upon the 48th dimension. Hold your breath and sense your expansion. Release your connection to your physical form— as humans, we possess the extraordinary ability to exist in multiple realms at once with our minds.

Envision yourself standing atop a majestic mountaintop. The choice is yours alone: Mount Kailash, Mount Fuji, Mount Shasta, Mount Everest, Uluru, Mount Sinai, Mount Meru, Zion, Olympus, Machu Picchu, Etna, Tabor, Ararat...

You feel the whisper of the wind, you embrace the tranquil silence. Only you possess the power to arrive at this moment—no one else can guide you to this realm of elevated understanding.

You gaze downward and behold the Ram. His horns spiral gracefully beneath him. This represents you at the dawn of your incarnation cycle. You were called to forge your journey through life with the unwavering strength of your spirit.

In your journey of mastery, you have embraced the power to govern your ego, your primal instincts, and the first three chakras. You have chosen to be led not by mere instinct, but by the profound path of the soul. With each sign of the zodiac, your horns have risen 30 degrees more aligned with your true purpose.

Within the law of one, the Soul desires:

Sacred strength devoid of ego Accountability

without arrogance Guidance without a crowd

Mastery of oneself rather than dominion over others

Now you find yourself on the mountain of initiation, where your horns signify mastery—they reach toward your 14th chakra, positioned directly above your head. They serve as two celestial receiving satellites, connecting you to the highest pinnacle of the earth.

Experience a profound energy flowing from your horns to your spine, embrace the swirling essence of Shiva within you, allowing it to whirl through your entire being.

"Here I stand, send me, send me. It is my desire that Your desire be fulfilled. I am who I am, and we are united."

Your cherished, newly sanctified horns hold liquid crystals that embody your sacred essence. The resonance of your spirit, the melody of your being, the radiance of your heart, and the purpose of your existence. This is your Holy Grail, encompassing your soul's authority, your geometric harmony, your structure, and the precise guidance needed to manifest your blueprint—your soul's mission.

With these codes, we are about to create the oil.

The Healing Ointment Ceremony

Warm the oil between your palms and embrace your shoulders—your complete essence of both masculinity and femininity, with your heart as the guiding center.

2. Family dynamics: Capricorn

At the tender age of three, you find yourself nestled in the warmth of your parents, who sit together in their radiant presence before a grand campfire. Your mother cradles you in her lap, and you lean your ear against her heart, feeling the rhythm of love. Your father envelops you in his embrace, and in that moment, you experience the profound sense of safety that envelops you. With a gentle touch, he takes your anointing oil and declares, "I see you, I love you, you are complete."

3. Now, your grandparents extend this legacy to your father and mother as well. Trace it back through the generations.

4. Now envision your own children and express, "I see you, I love you, you are complete." Carry on with those same words to your (future) grandchild.

5. Now, embrace your tailbone and declare, "I release all traumas, contracts, miasms, ancient samskaras, and anything from the source fields that does not resonate with the divine."

6. Embrace your heart and womb and declare, "I harmonize every thread of light and cellular bond within my entire essence with the source, with my cosmic rhythm. My compass directs solely to true north."

"I embrace no power that separates me from the Cosmic Father and Cosmic Mother. I am who I am, and we are united as one."

Closure

Magic words: Kum ta a ra E sha da Um a ta

This oil is safeguarded by the divine essence of the cosmic mother and father. It remains unseen to those who are not aligned with the purity of the law of one.

Go forth and write! This is the essence of new beginnings!

The essence held within the core crystals of your being must be attuned to your authentic power. All that is outdated does not belong to you and is journeying towards harmony.
